PASTORATES IN THE NEW YORK CONFERENCE ANNOUNCED.

Few Changes That Occasioned Surprise -New Head of Grace Church Whose Present Pastor Is Sent Downtown-Day Pleads for More Money for Syracuse.

The 109th session of the New York Conference of the Methodist Church, held at St. James's Church, Madison avenue and 26th street, ended at noon yesterday with the reading by the Bishop of the appointments for pastors for the ensuing year. With the exception of the appointment of two new presiding elders there were few surprises. The number of changes in the large city churches was less than usual, while those in the country districts slightly exceeded the changes of former years.

The most important changes in New York city churches were the transfer of the Rev. T. H. Baragwanath from Grace Church on 104th street, one of the largest churches of the denomination, to the Washington Square Church, one f the historic points of Methodism, and th. appointment to Grace Church of the Rev. Charles H. Cookman of Middletown, N. Y. Dr. Cookman was assistant pastor at Grace Church.

The Rev. Hough Houston was named presiding elder of the Kingston district to succeed the Rev. Dr. Frank L. Wilson, who had completed the six year term allowed by the church rules. Dr. Wilson replaces Mr. Houston at St. James's Church, Kingston

The Rev. Dr. S. P. Eckman remains at St. Paul's, this city, for his twelfth year, his being practically the longest pastorate in Methodism.

At the early business session Chancel-lor Day reported on the condition of Syra-cuse University. He said that there were 3.200 students in the six colleges and re-ported the completion of three new build-ings, including the library, which he de-clared to be the best equipped in the country.

clared to be the best equipped in the country. The chancellor announced that the university was greatly in need of endowment. The conference adopted a report prepared by a committee on "The Church and Labor," which says: "We request the approaching general conference to give as large consideration as practicable to the subject of industrial peace and to make such a deliverance thereon as shall suitably emphasize the sympathy of our denomination with all well directed efforts in behalf of social and economic improvement." half of social and economic improvement These are the appointments:

UNITARIANS IMPUGNED.

Conference, the New York East Conference voted on the subject of dancing and kindred amusements. By a very large majority it was decided that these matters should be left to the individual consciences of the members of the church, and that no compulsory rule against these amusements should stand.

One of the last acts of the conference was to appoint in charge of Methodist affairs in the Panama Canal Zone the Rev. William Waldo Waller, a graduate of Harvard and 27 years old. In the last year he was in charge of a church at West Hamp-

hours of the morning session of the Newark

Methodist Conference to-day were marked by scenes of disorder. Bishop Spellmeyer had called the Rev. Dr. G. W. Smith to the chair while he and his cabinet retired to confer regarding appointments, and with three propositions before the conference recommending to the General Conference a change to a four year pastorate the debate grew so warm that the presiding officer lost entire control. Motion after motion was made, calls for points of order and privileges were made and there was an utter lack of order.

GREAT NORTHERN FINED $5,000

For Giving Rebates to the Sugar Trust

Case Not a Bad One.

was found guilty in the United States Circuit Court yesterday of having paid rebates to the American Sugar Refining Company in 1904 in violation of the Elkins act. Judge

Holt imposed a fine of $5,000, after United States District Attorney Stimson had spoken

a good word for the railroad.

The maximum fine that might have been imposed was $40,000. The refining company was convicted a year ago of having accepted the rebates and was fined $10,000. The railroad's attorneys obtained a stay of sixty days against the execution of the sentence and will file a bill of exceptions.

The jury was out only a few minutes.

The jury was out only a few minutes. Judge Holt's charge strongly favored the contention of the Government's lawyers, which was that the payment of the money by the railroad constituted the crime. Coun sel for the railroad contended that the ac-ceptance of the sugar at the reduced rate and its delivery was what constituted the violation of law. When that was done in 1902 the Elkins act, providing for the punishment of a corporation as such, hadn't been passed. The money, amounting to about $10,000, was paid by the railroad to the refining company a year and a half later, when the Elkins law was in effect.

The Court said that had the case been a civil one it would have instructed the jury to return a verdict in favor of the com-plainant, but being a criminal action the law would not allow that.

District Attorney Stimson said that he thought it only proper to call to the Court's attention the fact that the transactions on the part of the railroad company did not involve to the same extent elements of fraudulent concealment such as were dis-elosed, for instance, in the sugar trust rebates granted by the New York Central. In the case of the Great Northern the rebates had been entered in the regular

Upon the motion of the District Attorney Judge Holt dismissed the indictment against the Northern Steamship Company on ac-count of the same transactions. Mr. Stimson explained that the indictment had been voted against the steamship company before the Government had the complete evidence that the money had been paid by the railroad company.

"I suspect, however," said the Judge in dismissing the indictment, "that the 19 per cent. didn't all come from the railroad

PLAINFIELD, N. J. April 7 .- The closing

Methodists in a Warm Argument About Them-Appointment Changes.

The presentation of a report on the Connecticut Federation of Churches, whose aim is to have all denominations combine to extend the work of religion, stired up a lively discussion yesterday in the New York East Methodist Conference in Brooklyn. Dr. Alexander McLean, a superannuated preacher, said:

"I hope we shall never consent to be associated with the Unitarians and Christian Scientists even in a federation of churches. These and such other cults are not Christian."

The Rev. Robert Wasson, another superannuated preacher, contended that as Methodists are immune from any taint of Unitarianism or Christian Science they should not refrain from associating with them, as they may be able to help them.

Prof. William A. Rice of Wesleyan University said that in view of the fact that some of the best hymns in the lan-guage, including "Nearer, My God, to Thee," were written by Unitarians he was not willing to brand Unitarians as non-Christian.
Dr. James M. Buckley characterized the Swedenborgians as "harmless mystics" and said that Mohammedans were Unitarians member, attempted to speak on the subject and he was declared out of order. He insisted on talking and refused to sit down. In the heat of the argument the Rev. W. R. Palmer of Jersey City declared that if it were not showing disrespect he would appeal from the decision of the Chair. Dr. Craig said that he regretted that Mr. Palmer should so far forget himself as to display such passion. and "ought to fellowship with them." He said he did not want the New York East Conference to take them in as Christians in the sense that they are Christians.

The discussion was wound up by the Rev. J. O. Wilson, pastor of the Nostrand Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, and he evoked loud applause when he said in closing: "Jesus Christ was divine or he was the arch impostor of the universe. It is no use for our Unitarian friends to say that Christ was not divine but that he was a good man. If He was not divine His life was a sham."

The committee appointed to investigate the case of Dr. Samuel Guerney, a medical missionary in Africa whose wife refused to live with him there, reported that there was nothing against him and asked that his character be passed, which was done. haracter be passed, which was done.
The Rev. Dr. William P. Estes, treasurer of the conference, reported that owing to the financial depression it had been feared that the contributions for the year would fall off at least $10,000 from the previous year, but that the falling off would not exceed $1,000. Bishop Burt last night announced these
